MOVIES

'Parasite'

If you haven't seen "Parasite" — and, let's face it, there's a pretty good chance you haven't — there's never been a better time to catch the Oscars' newly minted best picture. The story of a poor family in Seoul whose members launch an elaborate scheme to get ahead also won Oscars for original screenplay, director and international feature. It's being rereleased today in theaters across the valley.

FOOD &amp; DRINK

Swoop Building celebration

The Swoop Building at the Huntridge Shopping Center, 1122 S. Maryland Parkway, will debut with a celebration from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday. It'll include free food from Capriotti's and Roberto's, five free boneless wings with any purchase at Wingstop, $1 beer and free hot chocolate at Huntridge Tavern and free bottled water at Circle K, plus live entertainment.

ARTS &amp; LEISURE

Double Negative Book Club

The Double Negative Book Club, which explores literary works and their on-screen adaptations, meets Tuesday at The Writer's Block, 519 S. Sixth St. The focus will be on Jeff Vandermeer's 2014 novel "Annihilation" and its 2018 film adaptation by writer-director Alex Garland. The movie will not be screened during the meeting, but it is available to rent through iTunes, Hulu and the Clark County Library District. For more information, visit thewritersblock.org.
