1 'Dino Safari: A Walk Thru Adventure'

You can get up close and personal with more than 30 dinosaurs, without risking any "Jurassic Park"-style mayhem, at "Dino Safari: A Walk Thru Adventure." The new exhibition features animatronics, virtual reality and exhibits developed in collaboration with a world-renowned dinosaur paleontologist. The featured dinosaurs include the T. rex, the Spinosaurus and the Silver State's recently discovered Nevadadromeus. "Dino Safari" will be open 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily starting Monday at Horseshoe Las Vegas. Tickets start at $22.25; dinosafari.com.

COMMUNITY EVENT

Huntridge relighting

4 Illuminating a bit of Las Vegas history, developers will light the marquee of the Huntridge Theater on Friday for the first time in two decades, an early step in its renovation. The venue, which opened in the 1940s as the city's first desegregated movie theater and had a second life as a concert venue in the '90s, closed in 2004. A free event to mark the occasion will kick off at 5:30 p.m., with the relighting set for 7:15, and will feature performances by local bands The Hypnotiques, the Rhyolite Sound and the Dirty Hooks. Food and drink from Yukon Pizza, Winnie & Ethel's, Stay Tuned Burgers and Horse Trailer Hideout will be available for purchase, and the Neon Museum will host a tent with kids activities.
